SUPPORTING NGOs GLOBALLY

Sherlock works with clients across the globe, and particularly in the continent of Africa, that assist NGOs.

Our clients are either transportation services employed by NGOs to ensure the safety and security of employees working in regions with instability, or NGOs themselves that have their own transport network for staff.

What are the main challenges for these clients?

- Ensuring staff can move safely in regions where it may not be safe to hail taxis, use public transport or travel on foot

- The ability to manage specific contract work which may be regularly scheduled bookings e.g. taking staff to an onsite visit every Tuesday

- Maintaining safety and security of staff (passengers) at all times

How can Sherlock Taxi dispatch help?

Sherlock provides customers with the tools to manage safe and secure transport, putting staff security at the heart of each booking. Sherlock harnesses technology to prioritise delivering timely transport whilst ensuring security remains at the forefront of the service.

What can Sherlock do?

- Remove the laborious nature of manual admin through automated work schedules

- Automated tracking links – staff can provide tracking links to other colleagues to ensure their journeys can be completed safely

- Ability to ensure only approved drivers are allocated the trips and photo ID of drivers included in-app

- Job approvals process - bookings can be made my any employee but need to be approved by a manager
